Subject: [External] Atlantic Coast Pipeline

Dear Mr. Regan,

I'm writing as a citizen of North Carolina who happens to breathe air and rely on clean water for survival. I implore you to make sure that the Atlantic Coast Pipeline plan go through the full permitting process as required of all such projects and not reward a proven bad corporate citizen such as Duke Energy with unnecessary shortcuts.

Further, I believe this pipeline to be bad for all of us as it sets back our move towards more sustainable sources of energy and continues reliance on fossil fuels that contribute to climate change. But it will be especially bad for the communities through which the pipeline is proposed to pass. These are low wealth, largely minority communities that are already lagging economically and that already bear the burdens of natural and human made disasters. Locating a pipeline prone to contamination in these communities is not only irresponsible; it is immoral. Please uphold the purpose of DEQ and do your job to protect North Carolina's most vulnerable residents.

Regards,
